
(a) Elevation bands and occupied plots
Surveyed: 18 bands
36 blocks; 360 plots
27 occupied plots
9 occupied blocks
3,763–4,567 m
100-m elevation bands
Established route
Elevation (m)
4,800
4,200
3,600
3,000
200-m belt: 100 m on each side of route
(b) Paired ground blocks and plot coordinates
Two blocks per elevation band
(one on each side of the route)
Route
Block C
Block D
Block A
Block B
≥20-m buffer
Ground distance between block rows
100 m
(x, y)
O
100 m
100 m
200-m belt (ground)
Ten non-overlapping 5 × 5 m plots per block
Random coordinate pairs
along perpendicular axes
from fixed reference corner O
≥10 m between plot boundaries
(c) Rosette sampling within plots
5 × 5 m plot detail
R2
StolonR3 connection
R1
R4
5 m
5 m
• Select well-spaced rosettes representing different plant sizes.
• Treat each separately rooted rosette as a sampling unit.
• Do not assume stolon-connected rosettes are distinct genetic individuals.
• 581 sampled rosettes across 27 occupied plots.